BICYCLE SERVICES AROUND ICELAND

Cycling in Iceland

If you are considering an adventure or sporting tourism, there are many ways to be involved to make the most of the natural landscapes. This includes both natural and cultural attractions. There are also some companies that specialize in guided tours.

The weather

Iceland's weather is known for its cold and sunny climate in the summer, with snow and ice in the winter. The average temperature in the summer is around 10°C, and in the winter it ranges from -5°C to -15°C. The island experiences moderate winter temperatures with snowfall, and the summer months are relatively warmer with mild temperatures.

The roads

A major part of Iceland's road network is made up of good roads. The island's road network is divided between the interior highlands and the rest of the country. The interior highlands have a network of small roads and are only accessible by road in the summer months. The rest of the country has a network of major roads and secondary roads that are accessible year-round. The road network is well maintained and regular accidents occur.

Accommodation

Various hotels can be found in the highlands, and can be found on most tourist maps. They vary in price and are well maintained. In general, it is advisable to book in advance, especially in the high season.

Food and drink

Traditional Icelandic dishes and other regional specialties can be found in various restaurants and cafes throughout the country. It is also common to ask for local specialities at local restaurants.
